

NHS apprenticeships - see what you could do

Did you know there are great opportunities to start and progress your career through an NHS apprenticeship?

Have a look at the categories below to see what you could do.

Katie Smith - paramedic apprentice

There are all sorts of apprenticeships available in the NHS, whatever your experience or qualifications. You could work on a ward providing hands-on care, or in a role behind the scenes that helps keep the NHS running. Whatever you choose, you'll make a big difference to patient care from day one and be sure of a rewarding career.

The NHS has apprenticeships at all levels too, whether you're just starting your career or looking to progress to being a registered nurse or other professional:

- level 2 - equivalent to GCSEs
- level 3 - equivalent to A-levels
- levels 4 and 5 - equivalent to a foundation degree and above
- levels 6 and 7 - equivalent to a full bachelor's or Master's degree

Entry requirements will depend on the employer and the type and level of apprenticeship. For example, you may need four or five GCSEs at grades 9-4/A-C or equivalent to do a level 3 apprenticeship. To start a level 6 apprenticeship you're likely to need A-levels, equivalent level 3 qualifications or relevant experience.

Check out Skills for Health's handy factsheets ^[1] for more information about what you could do at each level.

Use this online tool ^[2] to help you decide what level of apprenticeship is right for you. And read our stories from apprentices ^[3] like you for inspiration!

You'll see some live vacancies below, and make sure you set up an alert on the NHS Jobs website ^[4] so you can easily see opportunities in your area.

New NHS apprenticeships are being developed all the time too, so be sure to check this page regularly.

Not every apprenticeship is available in every area, so if you can't immediately see your ideal vacancy, it's a good idea to widen your search criteria for other opportunities. For example, finding a healthcare assistant role will provide invaluable experience and mean you're already working when other apprenticeship opportunities become available. You could also contact the NHS organisations in your area to find out what apprenticeships they might be planning.

• Allied health professions

Staff in what we call the allied health professions ^[5] help patients live their lives as fully as possible.

How about starting your career with an assistant or support apprenticeship? You could be a:

Occupational therapy support worker ^[6]

Podiatry assistant ^[7]

Physiotherapy assistant ^[8]

Radiography assistant ^[9]

Speech and language therapy assistant ^[10]

If you're ready to look for a degree-level apprenticeship, is one of these professions right for you?

Arts therapist ^[11]

Diagnostic radiographer ^[12]

Dietitian ^[13]

Occupational therapist ^[14]

Operating department practitioner ^[15]

Paramedic ^[16]

Physiotherapist ^[17]

Podiatrist ^[18]

Prosthetist/orthotist ^[19]

Speech and language therapist ^[20]

Therapeutic radiographer ^[21]

See the Skills for Health website ^[22] for more information about the allied health professions.

- Ambulance service team

How about starting your career with an assistant or support apprenticeship in the ambulance service team ^[23]? It's more than just flashing blue lights and you could be:

an ambulance care assistant ^[24]

a call handler/emergency medical dispatcher ^[25]

an emergency care assistant ^[26]

an emergency medical technician ^[27]

If you're ready to look for a degree-level apprenticeship, how about training to be a paramedic ^[16]?

- Dental team

How about an apprenticeship in the dental team ^[28]? You'll play a vital role looking after people's mouths and contribute to patients' wider health.

Choose from:

Dental nurse ^[29]

Dental technician/dental technologist ^[30]

See the Skills for Health website ^[31] for more information about the dental team.

- Estates and facilities

In an estates and facilities ^[32] apprenticeship, you'll provide one of the services that make a huge difference to patient care and their experience of care.

How about an apprenticeship in domestic services ^[33] where you'll ensure NHS buildings are clean and safe, and patients are fed?

If you choose something in estates services [34], you'll help maintain NHS buildings using carpentry, engineering or plumbing skills.

Or in a support services [35] apprenticeship, you could provide a fire safety, portering or security service.

See the Skills for Health website [36] for more information about estates and facilities.

• Health informatics

If IT, library work or analysing data are your thing, how about a health informatics [37] apprenticeship in:

Clinical informatics [38]

Health records and patient information [39]

Information and communication technology [40]

Knowledge and library services [41]

Project and programme management [42]

• Healthcare science

Fancy playing a part in preventing, diagnosing and treating patients' medical conditions or helping with their rehabilitation?

Choose a healthcare science [43] apprenticeship:

Anatomical pathology [44]

Clinical immunology [45]

Genomics [46]

Clinical photography [47]

Decontamination and sterile services [48]

Medical engineering [49]

Nuclear medicine [50]

Rehabilitation engineering [51]

See the Skills for Health website [52] for more information about the healthcare sciences.

- Healthcare support worker

Healthcare support workers ^[53] are quite simply the lifeblood of the NHS. See the types of apprenticeship you can do:

Dietetic assistant ^[54]

Healthcare assistant ^[55]

Maternity support worker ^[56]

Occupational therapy support worker ^[6]

Orthotic technician ^[57]

Podiatry assistant ^[7]

Physiotherapy assistant ^[8]

Prosthetic technician ^[58]

Radiography assistant ^[9]

Speech and language therapy assistant ^[10]

- Midwifery

Midwifery ^[59] staff talk about feeling privileged in their work. How about an apprenticeship as a maternity support worker ^[56] or newborn hearing screener ^[60]?

If you're ready for a degree level study, you could look for a midwifery ^[61] apprenticeship.

See the Skills for Health website ^[62] for more information about midwifery.

- Nursing

Interested in nursing ^[63]?

How about an apprenticeship as a nursing associate ^[64]? It's a worthwhile career in its own right, or you could put your training towards a nursing apprenticeship to become a registered nurse:

Adult nurse ^[65]

Children's nurse ^[66]

Learning disability nurse ^[67]

Mental health nurse ^[68]

See the Skills for Health website ^[69] for more information about nursing.

- Pharmacy

If you choose a career in pharmacy ^[70], you'll make a positive difference to people's lives and wellbeing from day one. It's more than just pills and potions.

How about an apprenticeship as a pharmacy assistant ^[71] or pharmacy technician ^[72]?

See the Skills for Health website ^[73] for more information about pharmacy.

- Physician associate

You'll work closely with doctors, nurses and other clinical staff from day one in a physician associate ^[74] apprenticeship. Could it be the right choice for you?

- Psychological professions

If you want to help people with mental health problems, there are apprenticeships available at a variety of levels with opportunities to use your lived experience too.

Peer support worker ^[75]

Psychological wellbeing practitioner ^[76]

Clinical associate in psychology ^[77]

- Public health

The COVID-19 pandemic has shown more than ever how vital public health ^[78] careers are. If you'd like to be at the forefront of helping people to stay healthy and protecting them from threats to their health, choose a public health apprenticeship:

Environmental health professional [79]

Health trainer [80]

Public health knowledge and intelligence professional [81]

Public health practitioner [82]

See the Skills for Health website [83] for more information about public health.

• Wider healthcare team

The NHS simply couldn't run without a huge number of people working behind the scenes. See if an apprenticeship in one of these vital - wider healthcare team [84] - services could be right for you.

Administration [85], for example working in health records or as a receptionist, secretary or telephonist. See the Skills for Health website [86] for more information about business and administration.

Clinical support [87] where you could make a difference in NHS 111, employment support or social prescribing.

Corporate services [88] as communications, human resources or finance. See the Skills for Health website [89] for more information about human resources.

• Some live apprenticeship vacancies

Below you'll be able to see some live apprenticeship vacancies, pulled through from the NHS Jobs website [4]. This is only a sample, so make sure you set yourself up with an account on NHS Jobs [4] so you get an alert when vacancies you're interested in become available.
