Join this session to learn more about a career in Public Health and to hear from current trainees working in the East Midlands across a range of Public Health organisations.

This session is for those thinking about applying for Public Health specialty training in 2026 and will cover an introduction to Public Health and training in the East Midlands, the application process, careers in this specialty and a Q&A opportunity. There will also be information for those applying for the training from non-medical backgrounds.
