

Most trainees dual train in respiratory medicine and general internal medicine. Training lasts a minimum of five years (ST3-ST7).

It is also possible to combine respiratory medicine with intensive care medicine. This extends the training by a further two and a half years.