

Scientists in health: making a difference to people's lives

Enjoying your science subjects?

Like the idea of helping people?

Then a career in healthcare science could be for you!

Healthcare science has a clear career pathway that allows you to progress up the ladder. Many healthcare science staff work with patients and could be involved in anything from examining blood and tissue for kidney transplants to developing new life-saving equipment for premature babies!

Find out more at www.healthcareers.nhs.uk